

Contemporary Art Daily

A Daily Journal of International Exhibitions

RSS Feed

Random Exhibition

Contact

Submissions

Categories

Archives

Search

Robert Longo at Friedrich Petzel

May 20th, 2014

Artist: Robert Longo

Venue: Friedrich Petzel, New York

Exhibition Title: Strike the Sun

Date: April 10 – May 10, 2014

Click here to view slideshow

Sponsor

Contemporary Art Venues
Sponsored Listings

Sultana
Paris, France

ALL NAMES CH
ARACTERS & I
NCIDENTS POR
TRAYED IN TH
IS PRODUCTIO
N ARE FICTIT
IOUS
ANY RESEMBLA
NCE TO REAL
PERSONS LIVI
NG OR DEAD I
S PURELY COI
NCIDENTAL

Tanya Leighton
Berlin, Germany

SculptureCenter
New York, United States

sonora 128
Mexico City, Mexico

Full gallery of images, press release and link available after the jump.

Images:

Upfor
Portland, United States

Galerie nächst St. Stephan Rosemarie
Schwarzwälder
Vienna, Austria

Kunsthalle Wien
Vienna, Austria

Images courtesy of Friedrich Petzel, New York

Press Release:

Petzel Gallery is pleased to announce, "Strike The Sun," a solo exhibition by Robert Longo in partnership with Metro Pictures.

At Petzel, Longo looks to the U.S. Capitol building and the American flag, two highly polarizing national symbols. In Longo's enormous seven-panel drawing of this historic building, the immutable monumentality of the U.S. Capitol image is particularized by subtle variations in the molding above each of the building's windows and by their individual curtains. Longo's most recent confrontation with the contentious nature of the American flag as symbol of both nationalism and protest is a 17-foot high black wax surfaced sculpture that appears to collapse into or fall through the gallery's floor. A mediating note is a drawing of the poignantly solemn image of the riderless horse that led JFK's funeral procession.

A concurrent exhibition at Metro Pictures, "Gang of Cosmos," includes twelve charcoal drawings of well-known Abstract Expressionist paintings. Represented are Willem DeKooning, Adolph Gottlieb, Helen Frankenthaler, Lee Krasner, Norman Lewis, Joan Mitchell, Robert Motherwell, Barnett Newman, Jackson Pollock, Ad Reinhardt, Mark Rothko and Clyfford Still. In entering into this dialogue with major figures of 50 years ago, Longo acknowledges Abstract Expressionism's undiminished importance in American art and its influence on his own thinking. This thoroughly studied and finely executed body of work represents Longo's most personal engagement with his subject and the revelatory process of executing the drawings in minute detail.

Longo studied the actual paintings in museum collections and worked from photographs that he digitally manipulated to take on the challenge of drawing a painting, representing the overall picture and translating the three-dimensional detail of the physical paint and the color into black-and-white. Rendered in charcoal, the original artworks are immediately recognizable, but it is the overlooked or imperceptible details of the complex surface, the tactility of the paint, the brushstrokes, and the pattern of the canvas that Longo has made visible. Exploring his own ambivalence toward painting, Longo's drawings address the historical magnitude of Abstract Expressionism in art historical and cultural contexts—the shift in political and cultural dominance from Europe to the United States in the years following the Second World War—as well as the fundamental differences between the execution and behavior of painting and Longo's own intensive and acutely rendered drawings. The new aggression of these Abstract Expressionist paintings and their exploitation for international propaganda stand in counterpoint to the U.S. Capitol building and American flag installed at Petzel.

Link: Robert Longo at Friedrich Petzel

Tweet

Like 3

Tags: Friedrich Petzel, New York, Robert Longo, United States

* * *

Leave a Reply

Name (required)

Mail (will not be published) (required)

Website

Submit Comment

Galerie Buchholz
Cologne, Germany

The Power Station
Dallas, United States

Ghebaly Gallery
Los Angeles, United States